

When Granny Was a Girl

My granny tells me stories of long ago, when she was a little girl.

When granny was a girl, she didn't have a fridge. Everyday a truck delivered ice to their house instead.

"We have a fridge as big as my bed," the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she listened to music on the radio.

"A radio? What's that? I listen to music on my iPod," the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she had no TV, and they all went outside to play.

"We have a TV in the lounge room and my playroom," the little girl said.

When granny was a girl they wrote letters to Uncle Jim.

"Nobody writes letters anymore, granny. Daddy talks to Auntie Sue on the computer every Sunday" the little girl said.

When granny was a girl her favourite food was roast lamb on a Sunday.

"My favourite food is pizza, we get it from the freezer aisle every Friday," the little girl said

When granny was a girl she shared a bedroom with her three sisters.

"I have a whole bedroom all to myself," the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she took her favourite teddy with her wherever she went.

"So do I!" the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she liked to build sandcastles at the beach.

"So do I!" the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she had a mum and dad who gave her lots of hugs and cuddles.

"So do I!" the little girl said.

When granny was a girl she liked to listen to her granny tell her stories, and always fell asleep in front of the fire.

Just like the little girl.